

THREE MEN ARE KILLED BY STRIKERS

Who Fire Upon Passing Train Carrying Soldiers and Miners

NUMBER WERE WOUNDED

Militia Hurried to Scene of Trouble—Dogs Take Trail to Union Quarters.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 10.—Three men were instantly killed and 11 injured, two of whom will probably die, when striking miners fired into a passenger train on the Birmingham Mineral Railroad at Blocton, about 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The dead are:
Conductor Joe T. Collins.
O. Z. Dent, deputy sheriff.
Millard Howell, nonunion miner.

The injured:
Major F. H. Dodge, superintendent of safety, Tennessee Coal company, wounded in hand and leg.
E. E. Cox, superintendent of mines, Tennessee Coal company, wounded slightly in knee.

A. E. Cross, chief clerk in superintendent's office, wound in arm and knee.

J. K. Johnson, deputy sheriff, slightly wounded in side.

A. C. Bryant, deputy sheriff, wounded slightly in side.

J. B. Cornett, deputy sheriff, wounded in back.

W. H. McAulay, soldier, slightly injured.

M. A. Pearson, soldier, wounded in left shoulder.

J. C. Martin, wounded in head, back and arm.

A. J. Myer, laborer, wounded in leg.

Robert Sigmon, wounded in arm and breast.

The train was a special bearing nonunion men to the Blocton mines under guard of soldiers and deputies. On the outskirts of the town the engineer suddenly saw a log across the track, and at once a fusillade was fired into the train. The engineer did not stop but let the pilot throw the log from the track and put on full speed.

The place where the attack was made was in a cut, the ground being on a level with the lower part of the windows. The assailants behind the rocks above poured down a murderous fire directly into the windows and at the engineer. Practically every window in the cars was broken and shot struck all parts of the engine and cab.

The train proceeded to Blocton and the dead and injured were returned to Birmingham. Dogs were hurried to the scene and took trails through the woods directly to the union quarters. Eight negroes were arrested and other arrests are expected.

Governor Comer held a hurried conference with Lieutenant Colonel Hubbard, commanding the militia and another company was hurried to Blocton. All was reported quiet there last night.

The trouble has caused widespread indignation and a general demand is being made that more strenuous action be taken looking to the preservation of order. Governor Comer has not made a statement in the situation. While no disturbances have been reported in the district other than the Blocton affair, the situation is regarded as the most grave since the inauguration of the strike over a month ago.

Unions Will be Fought by Railway. Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Unofficially, but, nevertheless, effectively, the Pennsylvania railroad management has set its foot on efforts to build up new unions among its employees. There is no attempt to interfere in any way with the big organizations, like that of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

What the management aims to prevent is organization of men like freight handlers, trackmen and car inspectors. The officials of the road believe this is a most opportune time to move in the matter, as the many men out of employment and anxious for work make it comparatively safe for the company to take measures to halt organizations.

While no formal orders or written instructions have been issued, W. W. Atterbury, general manager, has given his subordinate officers clearly to understand that men active in furthering new unions are not wanted in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad.

and that such men are to be dismissed wherever it seems desirable.

Bomb Used to Damage Bridge. St. Louis, Aug. 10.—With a crash that could be heard throughout the city, two charges of dynamite were exploded at 2 o'clock Sunday morning at the south approach to the Eighteenth street bridge at Papin street. No one was killed or injured.

The bridge is being repaired by non-union labor, and it is thought that the dynamiting was caused by ill-feeling engendered on this occasion.

One of the spans at the south end of the viaduct was torn and twisted by the shock, and several planks were torn from the roadway.

HUGHES' FRIENDS IGNORE LEADERS

WILL NOT WAIT FOR HITCHCOCK
TO DETERMINE NEW YORK SENTIMENT.

A Big Hughes Mass Meeting Will be Held in Madison Square Garden at Early Date.

New York, Aug. 10.—That the supporters of Governor Hughes for a re-nomination do not intend to wait for officials of the national Republican committee and the New York state leaders, to determine the sentiment of the state on the governorship, was indicated by the announcement that there will be Hughes mass meetings held in New York City at an early date, and perhaps in other sections.

It is the intention to have a meeting in Madison Square Garden, late this month under the auspices of the Republican club of New York City, and there is a movement on foot, headed by some members of the Union League club to have a non-partisan gathering at about the same time and if possible to get Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain to preside.

The state and county leaders will have no part in these gatherings, it is said, unless they participate as individuals.

In the meantime, Mr. Hitchcock, chairman of the national committee, is going on with his inquiries to determine sentiment in his own way, and some of the state leaders, who are opposed to the re-nomination of Governor Hughes are continuing to round up voters of similar belief on the governorship question.

RECAPTURED AFTER THREE MILE SPRINT

John Minor, Who Made Sensational
Escape by Jumping from Train,
Again in the Toils.

John Minor, of Hebron, who was arrested by Officer Norris of Buckeye Lake police squad, at Bruno on Saturday, on the charge of stealing a bicycle from Columbus parties, is again in the toils. Minor, it will be remembered, is the young man who made the sensational escape from the office by jumping from the closet window of the car. The officer was notified that his prisoner was escaping, and leaping from the car started in pursuit of the young man who was somewhat handicapped with the iron on his wrists. Officer Norris, however, proved a good sprinter, and chased him three miles before capturing him. He was taken to Columbus.

Liquor Men to Start Daily. Findlay, Aug. 10.—Liquor interests in Findlay are preparing to start a morning Democratic daily. It will sell for one cent and use plate news service. The plant of a weekly paper here that is just existing will be used, and it is stated the new company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000. Each saloonkeeper is to be assessed $1000, a wholesale liquor house to put up $2500, while the local brewery will put in a like sum.

JUDGE TAFT IS HARASSED BY FEUDS

And Effort Was Made to Have Him Patch
Up Peace

TROUBLE IS BREWING

Factions Will Appeal to Chairman
Hitchcock and Conference Will be Held at Hot Springs.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 10.—The real reason for dragging Judge Taft over to this uncomfortable, overcrowded and antiquated resort has come to the surface. His presence was desired to give success to an effort to patch up peace in the muddled gubernatorial situation. But this plan failed.

As he was leaving the presidential candidate was captured and led to an upper room, where a conference, arranged by United States Senator Scott was on between Swisher and the Scherr factions of the Republican party in West Virginia, both of whom have nominated their leaders for governor.

Swisher, who is the candidate of the regulars, attended the conference in person. George McIntosh, of Fayetteville, Secretary of the Scherr state committee, represented the rival candidate and there were 12 other local leaders present, including Senator Scott and Congressmen Gaines and Hughes. The chief object of the conference was to get Scherr to retire.

"Gentlemen," said the candidate, "in common with all Republicans, I would like to see peace and harmony here in West Virginia, but I do not think the situation is one in which an outsider can properly interfere. It is a matter which you must settle among yourselves."

Mr. Taft left the conference and returns today to Hot Springs, Va. At that place the conference will resume. Senator Steve Elkins will be there to assist in the general effort toward peace, and, altogether, some lively times are promised, inasmuch as Vorys will be there for a conference on Ohio, and the general situation all over the country is to be gone over by the candidate and his party manager.

What makes the forthcoming campaign of absorbing interest and surrounds the outcome with nerve racking uncertainty is the fact that to a greater or lesser extent this situation in West Virginia is duplicated in half a dozen other states that the successful candidate must carry.

New York, for instance, with the Hughes middle facing the Republican leaders, is full of fine perplexities; so is Indiana, Ohio likewise, and there have also been complications in Iowa that throw a cloud of doubt about the result there. Then again there is to be considered the defeat of United States Senator Long in Kansas last week by Joseph L. Bristow.

This result has been the subject of more talk among the politicians who have met Judge Taft here and over at Hot Springs than any other political happening since the last of the national convention was held. It has given the Republican leaders a new angle on the presidential situation, down which they are just now engaged in looking somewhat fearfully.

FEATURES OF THE WELCOME

TO OLYMPIC TEAM WILL BE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND
WM. J. BRYAN.

Big Musical Event Being Arranged and 500 Girls Will Participate in Chorus.

New York, Aug. 10.—William Jennings Bryan and either President Roosevelt or his representative, are expected to be the features of the welcome to the American Olympic team on August 29. Five hundred little girls are now being trained to sing choruses as a part of the celebration, and it has already been arranged that the Twenty-second regiment's band will lead in the chorus of musical organizations such as even New York has never heard when the parade streams up Broadway.

WRIGHT'S REMARKABLE AEROPLANE FLIGHT

Paris, Aug. 10.—French aeronautics experts almost without exception, are today admitting that Wilbur C. Wright is far ahead of Farman, de Lagrange and all other European aeroplane experimenters. Before the "insignificant test," as Wright refers to his brief flight Saturday, the Frenchmen were exceedingly skeptical of Wright's claim. Today every bit of skepticism is removed and the Dayton, Ohio, man, according to the consensus of opinion, is nearer practical aerial navigation than any other aeronaut in the world.

Le Mans, France, Aug. 10.—Mr. Wilbur Wright made a remarkable flight with his aeroplane, remaining in the air one minute and fifty-five seconds, demonstrating to all observers his superiority as an aviator over all other experimenters of the day.

It was not the extent, but the nature of the flight which was so startling. Under conditions with which no other aviator ever endeavored to contend, he rose into the air within 50 feet of the starting point, attained a height of between 8 and 10 meters, circles twice around the race course, taking corners at angles almost terrifying in their sharpness, and descended at the starting point as safely as any bird.

Each time he passed before the grand stand, on which such men as M. Louis Bleriot, M. Ernest Archdeacon, the brothers Zens and a group of Russian military experts were gathered, exclamations of astonishment were raised, while the crowd, which had managed to gain admission somehow or others, cheered itself hoarse.

When the descent was effected hundreds dashed across the field to shake Mr. Wright by the hand. Mr. Hart O. Berg was the first to congratulate the latter's hard, tanned cheeks. It was a thrilling moment for everyone. Any doubt which may have existed in some minds concerning Mr. Wright's capacity by his public exhibition were swept entirely away by the babel of voices. It was not difficult to catch the one prevailing sentiment: "This man has conquered the air."

AMERICAN FLAG SHOT DOWN AT TABRIZ, PERSIA

Washington, Aug. 10.—According to a dispatch received at the state department today from Wm. F. Doty, United States consul at Tabriz, Persia, the American flag flying over the consulate at that place was shot away yesterday by loyalist forces. Because of the brevity of the message the opinion is expressed at the department that the shooting down of the flag was an accident. The dispatch indicates, however, that a serious situation exists and that fighting has been going on in the streets of the town.

HUNDREDS ARE BURIED IN THE FACTORY RUINS

Szegedin, Hungary, Aug. 10.—During a hurricane a large factory collapsed and a hundred workmen were buried in the ruins. Four corpses and 14 persons severely hurt have been recovered from the debris. Seventy persons are still missing.

Szegedin is 36 miles south of Budapest and after Budapest is the most populous city of the kingdom. It has an extensive trade and is noted for the manufacture of food products. In 1900 its population was 102,000.

ANARCHIST IS HANGED

JEAN RULL, WOULD-BE ASSASSIN
OF KING OF SPAIN MEETS DEATH.

Found Guilty of Complicity in Series of Bomb Explosions at Madrid and Paris.

Barcelona, Aug. 10.—Jean Rull, who on April 1 was found guilty of complicity in a series of bomb explosions, and anarchist outrages, and sentenced to death was executed Saturday.

At the trial of Rull last April the evidence showed that he and his associates were the authors of the attempts to assassinate King Alfonso at Madrid and Paris, and of various outrages in other parts of Spain. It was also stated that as a result of bomb explosions engineered by him a five or six persons lost their lives.

JUDGE PARKER RENDERS AID

TO PARTICIPANTS IN RUNAWAY
WHICH ALMOST TERMINATED FATALITY.

Jumps From His Automobile and Assists in Bringing Frightened
Horses to Standstill.

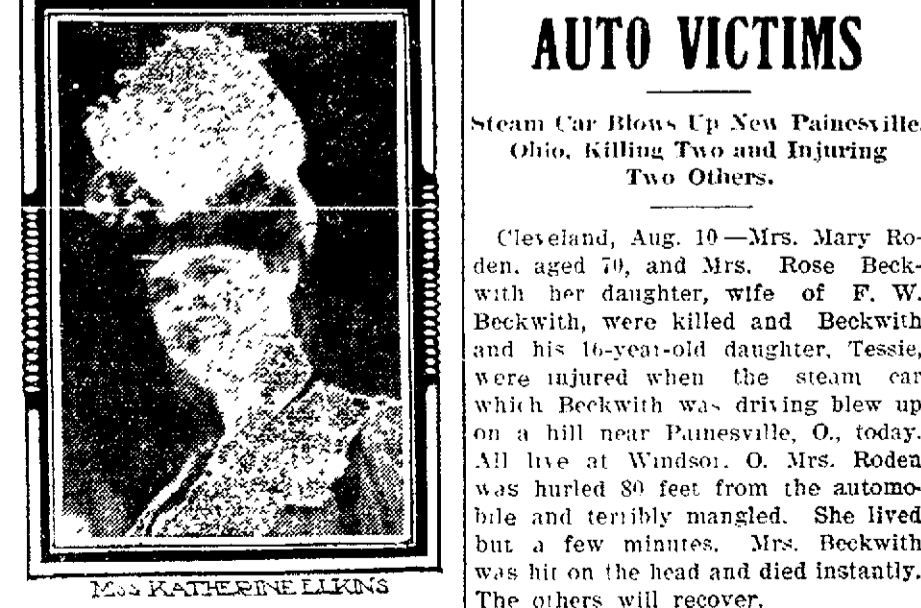

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Aug. 10.—Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, brought first aid yesterday afternoon in what was almost a fatal runaway.

While A. U. Mills, wife and daughter of this city, and David Oliver and daughter of San Francisco, were riding in a surrey, the team frightened at an approaching auto and can away. The surrey was overturned and Mr. Oliver and daughter and Miss Mills were caught underneath. Mr. and Mrs. Mills were thrown clear of the tangle, but Mr. Mills grabbed the reins and after the surrey had been dragged 100 yards with its pinnosed victims, succeeded in checking the runaway team, just as Judge Parker and Delaney Nicoll, also of New York, whirled up the road in an automobile.

Almost before the machine was stopped Judge Parker leaped from the machine and was tugging with Mr. Mills at the horses' bits. The animals were brought to a standstill and the three occupants of the wrecked surrey were liberated, bruised and lacerated. All were put in Judge Parker's auto and taken to the Mills home.

AUTO VICTIMS

Steam Car Blows Up Near Painesville,
Ohio, Killing Two and Injuring
Two Others.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Mary Roden, aged 70, and Mrs. Rose Beckwith, her daughter, wife of F. W. Beckwith, were killed and Beckwith and his 16-year-old daughter, Tessie, were injured when the steam car which Beckwith was driving blew up on a hill near Painesville, O., today. All live at Windsor, O. Mrs. Roden was hurled 80 feet from the automobile and terribly mangled. She lived but a few minutes. Mrs. Beckwith was hit on the head and died instantly. The others will recover.

Is a mother glad or sorry when her daughters remain at home unmarried?

The pull that keeps a man out of jail isn't going to get him into heaven.

HAYWARD IS DOVER'S SUCCESSOR

Latter Will be Secretary of Advisory Committee

CHANGE IS ANNOUNCED

Hitchcock Will Hold Conferences
With Managers in Various Sections of Country.

New York, Aug. 10.—Elmer E. Dover, of Ohio, has resigned his position as secretary of the Republican national committee and will become secretary of an advisory committee which is to work with George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the national committee. William Hayward, of Nebraska City, Neb., who has been Republican chairman in his state for several years has been appointed secretary of the national committee and will be given charge of the western headquarters at Chicago, in the absence of Mr. Hitchcock. The reorganization was announced by Mr. Hitchcock.

The advisory committee, which is to have charge of ways and means, and will work with Mr. Sheldon, will consist of nine members. The men to be named will be prominent business men from various sections of the country and will not be drawn from the ranks of the national committee. They will be men who are in touch with commercial conditions and who have had experience in past campaigns. The selection of Mr. Dover for the secretaryship of the committee pleases him and his acceptance of the place disposes of the reports that his relations with Mr. Hitchcock are not harmonious.

NEEDS BIG CAMPAIGN FUND.

In discussing the change, Mr. Hitchcock spoke frankly of the necessity of thorough organization for a proper financing of the campaign. He admitted that a great deal of money will be needed, and he wants the men charged with the gathering of funds to go about their work in a business like manner. He added that he would see that the expenditures were made with care. Some of the men who will serve on the advisory committee have accepted appointment, but the announcement of the full committee will not be made before next week. Mr. Hitchcock as chairman of the advisory committee, Mr. Dover will be ex-officio member of the committee, the headquarters of which will be in this city.

It is not likely that any vice chairman of the national committee will be appointed. Mr. Hayward will give up the chairmanship of the Nebraska state committee and devote his entire time to the management of the campaign in the west and Mr. Hitchcock will also spend a great deal of time at Chicago.

DEPUTIES PUT TO ROUT BY A GIRL MOONSHINER

Sergeant, Ky., Aug. 10.—A United States marshal, F. M. Blair, and a posse of deputies were put to rout by Miss Mary Fouts, who is known as the "maiden moonshiner." Miss Fouts is 21 years old, of Beaver Creek, near the border of Knott and Letcher counties. The battle lasted half an hour and more than 60 shots were exchanged. The posse did not retreat until Deputy Hiram Day had been seriously wounded.

POWDER FACTORY BLOWS UP.

Madrid, Aug. 10.—The Chellas powder factory at Dad-Agos blew up today killing nine persons and doing great damage. The factory was one of the biggest in Spain.

MR. NEIBARGER REPORTS BIG CROP

South Haven, Mich., Aug. 10.—I saw in the Advocate an account of a big yield of wheat the other day. We had 5 1/2 acres that made 220 bushels, or 40 bushels to the acre. Can Licking county beat that?—E. L. Neibarger, R. F. D., No. 2.

GOVERNMENT'S GREAT AIRSHIP EXPERIMENTAL STATION

THE GREAT BALLOON HOUSE AT FORT OMAHA—JUST COMPLETED.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 10.—Spurred onward by the activity of foreign war departments in the matter of airships and aeroplanes for use in war, the United States government is developing here on the great plains, 1500 miles from Washington and almost in the geographical center of the country, the greatest balloon and airship experiment station on the American continent. The great steel house, in which the balloons are stored when not in use, has just been completed at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, and other equipment of the big station is upon the same magnificent scale. The war department is spending $1,000,000 on this great western station, where has been established the headquarters of the aero department of the United States army.

Originally Ft. Omaha, now the headquarters for balloon experiments, was a regular frontier Indian fort and guarded the overland trail across the continent. But with the removal of the regular soldiers to Fort Crook, a few miles below Omaha, old Fort Omaha was rebuilt and turned over to the engineering department of the army to be used as a signal station. When foreign countries began experimenting with and paying so much attention to aeronautics the United States government "got in the game" and began preparations for experiments on a huge scale. Fort Omaha, with its big grounds and paraphernalia, proved an ideal post from which to carry on the balloon experiments and was accordingly chosen as headquarters for the aeronautic section of the war department.

CLOSING BIG DOORS OF BALLOON HOUSE.

Col. W. A. Glassford, the balloon expert of the army, is in command at Fort Omaha. Colonel Glassford spent a whole year with the balloon squad of France, Germany, Italy and England, and knows more about military balloons than any other man in the United States.

The great balloon house at Fort Omaha, the last rivet in which was driven July 20, this year, is built entirely of steel and is indestructible. It is the first steel balloon house ever built, and there is not an atom of wood in its construction.

The building is 200 feet long, 90 feet wide and 75 feet high. It weighs 200 tons and is what is technically known as a "church truss" building, having an angular top with a circular lower cord.

One of the special features of the house is the size of the doors, which face north. They are 75 feet high and weigh 14 tons each, yet so nicely are they balanced that they will open and shut with the weight of one hand on a lever. The building is covered with corrugated steel, held in place by 120,000 Norway iron rivets. Just at the rear of the balloon house is the hydrogen gas house, in which the gas is manufactured.

In September of this year the government will begin a series of experiments with dirigible balloons and heavier than air flying machines at the Omaha post, which will be more comprehensive than anything of the kind ever attempted in America.

How to Cure an Oily Skin.

If your skin is inclined to be greasy you must take some care about your diet. Such things as rich soups, pastry and hot, highly seasoned dishes must be really left alone. Instead of using soap wash your face with oatmeal. Just take a little oatmeal in the palm of your hand, make it quite damp, and then rub it over your face as you would do soap. This oatmeal must be well rinsed off afterward, and when the face is quite dry bathe it with the following lotion: Sulphate of zinc, thirty grains; can de Cologne, one ounce; rosewater, two ounces. Use this twice a day. Stewed fruit of all kinds are good for you, and last thing at night, also every morning, you should make it a practice to eat an apple.

Human Nature and Woman Nature

The successful advertiser must understand human nature, but his most direct appeal usually is to Woman Nature. The ladies are the bargain hunters. Very likely some of them right now are reading this and will turn to look for bargains advertised in this paper. They get on the trail of a bargain and follow it right into camp—if they once find the trail.

Salt Water Plunge Now a Possibility and Members Will Surely Take Advantage Of It.

Coney Island, Bar Harbor, Atlantic City and Long Branch all rolled into one cannot come up to the new salt water plunge bath at the Y. M. C. A. The enterprising physical department has made a new move and filled the swimming pool with clear briny surf that will give the men of Newark a chance to have the seaside tonic bath right at home. Somehow, when men grow up the "old swimmin' hole" looks awfully muddy and the clear, pure water of the plunge looks mighty good.

There is likely to be a busy time with that small Atlantic ocean in the basement of the association building this week. To make everything safe for some business men who have not been swimming for a long time, it may be necessary to organize a life-saving crew modeled on Uncle Sam's brave shoremen. Mr. Howard Williams, the new assistant physical director, will be on hand all the time and direct operations. This will insure safety for all and the salt water will do the rest. You can learn the new "Australian crawl stroke" and thus rival America's great champion, C. M. Daniels, whose speedy swimming won the world meet at London recently.

How to Make Milk Safe.

Scientific investigations have proved that milk in a raw state should never be given to children. Those who cannot buy pasteurized milk should pasteurize it at home. This can be done by observing these simple directions:

First.—Bring the milk slowly to a boil, and when it reaches the boiling point bottle it instantly, cork tightly and cool it.

Second.—Never feed milk that is more than twenty-four hours old to an infant.

Third.—Keep the milk near ice and never leave a milk bottle uncorked.

Fourth.—Cleanse and scald all bottles before refilling.

Careful observance of these directions will insure against babies contracting disease from impure milk.

How to Reduce Fat.

An excellent and highly effective exercise for the removal of abdominal fat is taken as follows: Lay flat on the back on the floor and place the hands at the sides. Catch the toes under something to keep the feet down and keep the knees stiff. It is well to catch the toes under the edge of the dresser, as there is no danger of this being moved by the exercise. Take a deep breath and rise slowly to a sitting position. Lower the body, slowly expelling the breath. Be careful not to overstrain the muscles while practicing these movements.

How to Clean Doors.

Doors and window frames require special attention at cleaning time. Clean the paint with warm water and a little ammonia. Take a clean soft flannel and wet as much as the arm can reach. Wash and wring the flannel and rub the paint till quite clean. Dry the surface thoroughly and polish with a soft cloth. If the paint is left damp it shows the marks of the washing and loses its polish. For very light paint wring a cloth out of hot water, dip it in whiting and rub till quite clean. Then wash it and polish with a clean wash leather.

PASSENGERS

Leaped Overboard in Panic When Dutch Steamer, Amstelland Caught Fire.

London, Aug. 10.—Lloyds today received a message that the Dutch steamer, Amstelland, caught fire off the coast of South America on August 6. ## How to Break a Cold Quickly.

In addition to the ordinary precautions to break a cold, such as taking a few grains of quinine when first felt or six or ten drops of camphor on a lump of sugar if the cold be in the head, it is well to live carefully till the disease is conquered. Drink plenty of cold water, eat sparingly, avoid coffee and other stimulants and be careful not to overtax yourself or expose yourself to drafts. This does not mean, however, living in hermetically sealed rooms, as colds usually flee more quickly if one has plenty of fresh air.

How to Keep Cooked Vegetables Green.

Not every one knows that all vegetables grown under the ground—potatoes, turnips, carrots and onions—should be put to cook in cold water, while those grown on top of the ground should have boiling water poured over them, especially green things such as peas, beans, spinach and corn. If left uncovered they retain their fresh green look.

How to Remove Spots From Clothing.

To remove grease or similar spots from clothing with gasoline without leaving the objectionable ring when dry first dampen with water around the spot to be cleaned. Sponge spot inside of ring with gasoline in the usual way. Hang in the open air a few minutes and press. This will positively leave no ring.

Some people are too apt to confuse the mark of esteem with the dollar mark.

There can be no mistaking the Republican worryment over Mr. Bryan's nomination. A united party is visible. Time enough has elapsed to detect any revolt. There is no reason for desertion by anybody. The old cry of hurting business cannot be lifted up. Nobody believes that Bryan's election could disturb business. Deficits, panics, extravagances, a Congress pulling one way and a President another; why, the mere topical headings of the chapters are enough to elect Bryan without needing to get wildly enthusiastic over the full text.

The Wayne County Democrat says that commercial travelers invariably report the change of sentiment in favor of Bryan. A Bryan wave is now sweeping over the country, and America's great Commoner will be carried into the White House on its crest.

W. D. HARRIS SECURES SPLENDID CONCESSION
To Add to His List of Amusement
Enterprises---Beautiful Luna Park
in Mexican Capital
Hustling Manager Retains Lease of Buckeye Lake
Park and the Auditorium Theatre in this City---Appoints Resident Manager.

The story recently published in an evening paper in this city that Otto Morse would succeed his brother-in-law, Will D. Harris, as manager of the Auditorium, does the latter gentleman a great injustice.

Mr. Harris has leased the Auditorium from the trustees for a term of three years, succeeding Ernest Johnson May 1. He has made all the bookings for that popular play house for the coming season, securing many of the standard ones on a regular basis.

Mr. Harris, who is well known over the country, as one of the foremost amusement promoters in the business, has recently secured control of one of the most beautiful and largest parks in America, "The Luna" located in Mexico City, Mexico, and the acquisition of this resort to his enterprises will demand his personal attention, and as a consequence he was compelled to appoint a resident manager for the Auditorium, who will look after that theatre during his absence.

He has selected for that position his brother-in-law, Mr. Otto Morse, who has been connected with Mr. Harris for several years and who is fully competent to take care of the large patronage which no doubt will be accorded Newark's leading play house this season. He will also act in the capacity of treasurer, making all settlements, etc. Before leaving for the southwest Mr. Harris will make another trip to New York and expects to secure several more of the leading productions to add to the large list already secured.

The theatre loving public of this city will have a chance to witness some of the best plays on the road this season a number of whom are only making a few of the largest cities outside of New York and Chicago. Mr. Harris' personal acquaintance and friendship with the eastern theatre managers has enabled him to bring about this result.

Mr. W. D. Harris, who has been in charge of the Auditorium during the summer months, and who has proven very popular with the patrons, will leave about September 1 to assume a position which he had previously accepted. Mr. Harris was desirous of continuing Mr. Graham's but the previous contract made this impossible and he leaves with the best wishes of his employer and the many friends he has made during his residence in Newark.

It will not be out of place to mention a partial list of bookings secured by Mr. Harris and which our people will have the pleasure of witnessing this season. Among them are such well known attractions as:

Paid in Full which has been at the Astor theatre, New York, for the past year. Newark will be one of the only eight nights that this piece will be changes in store for next season which will greatly enhance the beauty of one of the most popular summer resorts in Ohio.

The new addition which has been added to the Will D. Harris enterprises, Luna Park, in the City of Mexico, is an undertaking of great magnitude, and Mr. Harris has given a bond of $50,000 that he will faithfully carry out his end of the agreement.

Luna Park is situated at the end of the Paseo, said to be the finest boulevard in the world. It is 500 feet wide, and along its course are placed statues of Mexican celebrities. Magnificent foliage also adorns the right of way and it is along this roadway that the wealthy live. Just beyond the end is Chapultepec Castle, the home of Diaz, president of the Mexican Republic, and which is similar to the White House of the United States.

In addition to the boulevard, four city street railway lines, several interurban and a number of driveways lead to Luna. The park was built by the Ingersoll Construction company of Pittsburgh at a cost of one half million of dollars, and Mr. Harris' lease is for three years. In the way of amusements it contains: Roller Coaster, The Old Mill, Aerial Swing, Big Carousel, Big Skating Rink, Big Dancing Pavilion, Human Roulette, Cave of the Winds, Two Touring Cars, Enchanted Palace, Chutes the Chutes, Bowling Alleys, Photo Gallery, Two Theatres, Large Restaurant and a number of smaller concessions and games of amusement.

Mr. Harris is proud of the fact, and he has reason to be, that he secured control of the park without solicitation. A Mr. Paluter, the largest stockholder in the concern, stopped at the Harris hotel for several days and became acquainted with Mr. Harris, but did not make his business known for several days. He then broached the subject of the lease to his host with the result that that gentleman saw an opportunity of adding a splendid business to his enterprises and closed the deal.

Mr. Harris will take with him to Mexico City, Mr. Bernard Smith, who has been with him for seven years, and who is a most valuable assistant and is thoroughly familiar with every detail of theatrical and park business. Mr. J. H. Marple, who will assist in looking after concessions, and Mr. Louis Myers.

The City of Mexico has a population of 500,000 and a floating yearly population of from 15,000 to 20,000 tourists, and Mr. Harris is to be congratulated upon securing an enterprise of such proportions and one which no doubt under his able management will prove a money maker from the start. Before leaving, which will be about September 9, he will arrange that the Auditorium will be open every night in the year with the exception of Sunday. He will again return to Newark during the rainy season, when the Mexican park will be closed, and assume charge of the Buckeye Lake Park through the summer months.

FAIRY QUEEN IN "LITTLE NEMO"
New York, Aug. 10.—Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger are adding daily to the company with which they will produce the cartoon spectacle, "Little Nemo," founded on Mr. Winslow McCay's popular comic series. For the part of the Fairy Queen, who figures in many of Nemo's adventures in Stamberland, Miss Albertina Benson was engaged.

Miss Benson comes from Chicago and has had a rapid rise in the profession. Five years ago she was in the chorus. Her first part was in "The Wizard of Oz." Then she was transferred to "Babes in Toyland." For a season she sang in "The Prince of Pilsen," and last year she headed a road company in "Comin' Thro' the Rye." It was Mr. Victor Herbert who has a lien on the "Little Nemo" music, who selected Miss Benson for the role of the Fairy Queen because of her voice.

(By S. E. Godden.) Marion, Aug. 10.—Newark took the final game of the series before a big crowd at Webb park Sunday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3, thereby making it possible for them to leave Diggettown with an even break. Burke's wildness, coupled with timely hitting caused the undoing of the Diggers.

On the other hand Moore baffled the hard-hitters of the local club. Not until the fifth inning did the Diggers get a runner on. Then three hits, with a pair of battery errors, netted two runs.

Moore allowed the locals to go just so far and then clamped on the lid, retiring the side when a hit would have meant one or more runs.

Burke got into trouble at the start through an error by LaRue, but he pulled through without receiving any damage. In the third with two down Pinkney and Murray singled but Abbott failed to bring them in. Locke singled in the fourth, was sacrificed, but neither Wratten nor McClintock could help him to complete the circuit.

The fifth was a heart breaker. Williams opened with a single and things brightened up a bit when Moore failed to sacrifice and hit a fly to Wolfe. When Pinkney fanned it looked as though the danger was past, though Williams stole second at the same time. Had Anderson's throw been good Williams would have been an easy out at second and all that disastrous after part never have occurred. Murray and Abbott walked and the bricks were full. Frank Locke's long drive to left center scored Williams and Murray while Ketter's quick return held Abbott at third. Locke was perched on second when the ball reached the diamond. Both scored on Smith's single "hat skinned over the third sack. Smith pilfered but was not advanced. It all happened with two out.

The Diggers came back and opened up on Moore in the second half. With one down Ketter singled and went to second when Wilson hit to Wratten. LaRue's single scored Ketter. The runner swiped second and when Moore made a wild pitch he completed the circuit. The ball did not go a great distance from the plate and had Moore covered LaRue would have been held at third. LaRue pulled off a clever base running stunt and the unexpected caught the big pitcher asleep. Anderson followed with a safety to left. Burk struck at three but the third one got away from Williams and the pitcher took first while Anderson went to second. O'Day fanned.

In the next the Diggers added another one and had either Ketter or Wilson been able to deliver a blow the score would have been tied. Wolfe beat out an infield hit to open the sixth. Crockett failed to sacrifice and hit to Murray, forcing Wolfe. The runner stole second and went to third on Tate's hit. He scored on Ketter's roller that almost knocked McClintock down. Mac recovered in time to get the runner at first. Wilson lifted to Murray.

In the ninth the callers added another one. With one down Murray walked and went to second on Abbott's out. Locke's hit took him to third and when Anderson threw to O'Day as Locke was attempting to steal Murray stole home. Score:

THANKS, LANCASTER. Lancaster, Aug. 10.—The Links made it four straight from Lima by winning both games of a doubleheader Sunday. Both were interesting contests throughout and the largest crowd of the season witnessed sensational fielding on the part of both teams. Mock twirled a steady game and was invincible when a hit meant a run. Two bases on balls and a single by Piper gave the Links a victory. Fielder Carter was benched and White replaced him in the outfield and the visitors' tally was due to errors by him. Justice twirled the second game and the visitors never had a look in, not a man getting to third.

LANKS WON SATURDAY. Lancaster, Aug. 10.—The Links got away with a flying start. Saturday, but after the third innings Links was invincible while White loosened up and threatened to let the game get away. He was derided, and, with one out and one man on second, Mock went in and retired the side without a score. He pitched good ball the rest of the game.

FATTENED AVERAGES. Mansfield, Aug. 10.—Mansfield fattened batting averages by taking both games of a doubleheader from Portsmouth Sunday afternoon with ridiculous ease, batting both pitchers hard, while Dave held the visitors to one in the first game and Bailey shut them out in the second. Shortstop Jewell has rejoined Mansfield Saturday.

HERMANN WINS FROM HAYES. The Hermann team of the City League, defeated the Hayes team yesterday in a game played on the Idlewild diamond, by the score of 12 to 2. Winters who pitched for the Hermann team, allowed by two hits, while Martin, of the Hayes team, was touched up for 16 bingles. The Hayes team play the Rutledge team next Sunday at Idlewild park.

Takes Double Header from Molders Saturday

BOTH ARE SHUT OUTS

POOR HITTING AND FIELDING OF LOCALS IS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE.

Bushelman and Kaler do Slab Work. Kaler Pitches Nice Ball in the Second Game.

(By S. E. Godden.) Marion, Aug. 10.—The old Zanesville guard, Al Wilmot and Jimmie Lucas, both heroes in many a battle on the mound, turned two neat ones at Webb park, Saturday afternoon, each aplying the whitewash to the Molders. Al in the first and Jimmie in the second, pitched superb ball. There never was a chance for the callers to get a look in and for 18 innings the big crowd saw some marvelous pitching. Both games were replete with brilliant playing by Newark and by Marion.

Al Wilmot got into a little trouble in the first frame but it did not last long. Smith opened up the game with a single to the middle pasture. McClintock failed to sacrifice and then fouled out to Anderson in an attempt to pull off the hit and run with Smith. The latter swiped second and went to third when Wolfe fumbled Abbott's grounder, the latter reaching first. Abbott stole second and it looked as though Newark would sew something up. The best Locke could do was to hit to Anderson and Tate gathered in Gygil's high one. Only once during the remainder of the game did Newark get a runner to second. That was when Smith doubled along the right field line in the fifth with two down. He was not advanced.

For Newark, Bushelman, late of Portsmouth, Toledo and other clubs, attempted to stop the Diggers. The big thrower was hit hard throughout the game and the Diggers had a happy faculty of buncing the safe ones. O'Day threw a few thrills into the crowd when he smashed one to center for two bases as an opener. Wolfe sacrificed and O'Day scored when Crockett swatted to right center for a base. Tate lifted to Gygil and Crockett stole second and third, taking the latter with the ball in Bushelman's hand. Ketter's single scored Crockett and the runner took second on McClintock's bad peg to Gygil. He went to third on a passed ball. Wilson walked and stole second but LaRue fanned.

The Diggers got but one hit from then on until the eighth—a double by Tate in the third. To open the eighth O'Day walked and went to second when Gygil let a throw from Bushelman get away. Wolfe fanned trying to lay one down and Crockett was hit in the short ribs by a fast one. Tate led to center, scoring O'Day and putting Craig, who ran for Crockett, on second. Ketter followed with a single and Craig was only prevented from crossing the rubber by a magnificent throw from deep center by Smith. Wilson's sharp single would not allow Tate to score. Wratten took in LaRue's fly and it was all over. The score:

SECOND GAME. The telling of the second game is as easy as was the first. Newark could do absolutely nothing with Lucas. For six straight innings not a hit was scored by the visitors. The only man to reach first base in that time was Smith, who after being hit was sacrificed to second and went to third on an out.

Young Kaler went the route for Newark. He had lots of speed and plenty of nerve in spite of the poor game played behind him. It is a safe venture that with another year's experience the lad will make a mark in this league.

There was nothing doing for the Diggers until the third inning when three big tallies were scored, largely through the misplays of the callers. Anderson got on through McClintock's error and went to second on a balk by Kaler. Lucas fouled out trying to lay one down. O'Day speared a three-baser out along the left field and Anderson crossed the rubber. O'Day came in when Locke dropped Wolfe's long fly to right. Wolfe touching second Crockett's hit sent Wolfe to third and Tate's fly to Smith allowed him to cross the pan. That was all of the scoring.

In the seventh Newark broke the ice and McClintock started to left. Abbott followed with a blow to the right field fence that Wilson handled fast and by making a perfect throw to third base caught McClintock. Locke forced Abbott and Gygil forced Locke.

With two down in the eighth Newark got frisky again. Williams and Kaler both slamming on singles, but Smith was easy. The score:

RELEASED

Was Captain Sandy Murray of the Newark Baseball Team by the Directors.

Captain "Sandy" Murray, who has been with the Molders for the past two years, playing second base, has been unconditionally released by the directors of the local ball club. The reason given by them is that Murray has not been playing up to his standard since the opening of the present season.

The meeting, rather an impromptu one, was held late Saturday night, and it proved to be rather a stormy affair. Many reports were circulated and many of the players on the Newark club had been released according to the talk that was going around. This report was denied by Business Manager Mackay. When seen this afternoon, he said that Captain Murray was the only one who had been released by the directors.

The fans were greatly surprised when this report was circulated, for while many fans thought various men should be allowed to go, and no two seemed to agree on who it should be, no one had thought of Murray being dropped from the team. Their best wishes, with those of the Advocate, go with the husky second baseman. There is probably no man in the Ohio State League who knows more inside baseball or who plays the game harder than Murray does.

He has made mistakes, and sometimes costly ones, but he has also saved many games by his brilliancy of action on the field. As it was impossible to see him, his plans for the future are not known.

Of Zanesville Easily Trimmed by the Newark Team

ATTENDANCE IS GOOD

SCORE OF 28 TO 5 ROLLED UP BY THE LOCAL LODGE OF THE B. P. O. ELKS

First Game Ever Played by the Local Elks, Results in Overwhelming Victory.

There have been games and games at Wehrle park, but there never was such a game as was played Sunday afternoon, when the Elks' teams from Newark and Zanesville met for the first time. There wasn't much to it except Newark from the start to the finish, and there was fun in chunks. The wildest dreams of "Home Run Haggerty" never pictured anything so truly marvelous as the way the local Antlered herd jumped onto the herd sent from the town where the "Y" bridge stands.

Zanesville came up bursting with hope and happiness, thinking of the scalp they would carry home to tuck up in their lodge room to fondly point to when visitors came in, and then on mild whispers tell them how the boys of 391 furnished the top pieces. Instead, the silky hair of the Muskingum contingent floats flauntingly in the breeze of the new electric fan and the local Elks are happy. As previously stated there was fun in huge, juicy bunches, and from the time the game started until the umpire called the last man out two hours and 20 minutes later, the merriment never stopped.

It was the local's game from the time they went to bat the first time, not in the least disheartened by the one score Zanesville shoved across on a rank error. They just kept pounding away and when the smoke of battle had cleared Scott, Graeser, Numan and Cooney had crossed the mat for Newark. The second inning was similar to the first as far as the visitors were concerned, for they did manage to get one run across on an oversight of Murphy. The locals rather fell down on their half of the second, for they only got three runs that frame.

The third inning had all the appearance of a ball game and the people who had gone to the ball park got the idea into their heads that they would see a ball game, for with both sides it was three up and three down. While Zanesville was again blanked in the fourth the boys representing No. 391 clouted the ball long and hard and six more scores were pushed across the home plate.

Both sides scored one runner in the fifth and both were blanked in the sixth, but when the seventh rolled around the onslaught of Newark was terrible to witness. Nine hits, two of them for extra bases, netted the locals 11 runs in this inning, and Newark batted around on Huff, who was the visiting slabber. Just to show them that the runs weren't mistakes, Newark scored three more men in the eighth, and in the ninth to show that they weren't wholly disheartened by their defeat, the visitors counted twice more.

After the game an elaborate supper was served the players of both teams in the lodge rooms and a smoker was enjoyed. The members of the Zanesville lodge that came up with the team were also given their lunch in the club rooms here. The boys are naturally pleased with their winning the first game, and they are to be congratulated for they showed that with a little more practice they would be able to put up a very acceptable and interesting game of baseball.

The Taking of Lorena.

By ANNE NEILMAN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Although it was the second week in May, there were sudden and chill whiffs of wind from the north, accompanied by flying particles of ice and snow, grim warning that winter had not yet renounced its sway in the northland.

Floyd Jordan, striding down the steep mountain trail, halted irresolutely near the abrupt turning at Farrell's bluff. He appeared to be meditating deeply. Suddenly he threw up his head, squared his shoulders and hurried on, not in the direction of the boarding house in the gulch, but toward Farrell's cabin.

Farrell's cabin consisted of two log houses joined together and chinked with mud. There were other cabins of the same simple architecture scattered over the mountain side and nestled in the gulches, but white curtains hung at the Farrell windows, and the windward side of the living room was hung with gay Navajo blankets.

The brown fur of a mountain bear was spread on the floor, and its mate was spread luxuriously beneath the red pillows of a couch. And, set like a torch in the south window, a geranium, potted in a brilliant Indian basket, lifted its scarlet bloom.

But Jordan felt without seeing this harmony. He was looking into the face of the girl who had opened the door. It was a face of light and shade which spoke the swift thought before the voice found words, a face to hold a man's glance in a crowd. Closing the door, she resumed her seat by the fire without replying to Jordan's genial greeting.

He seemed to fill the room. Six feet two and broad shouldered, he looked even larger in the clumsy canvas coat, corduroys and high laced boots of the prospector. He whipped his hat against his knee, evidently disconcerted by the girl's hostile attitude.

"That you, Floyd Jordan?" inquired a voice from the inner room.

"Yes, Mrs. Farrell. How're you feeling?"

"Some better, I'm glad to say. Set down and warm yourself, Floyd. 'Tain't to be wondered at that people have rheumatism in a land where there is ten months' winter. If you'll shut the door, Lorena, I'll get up and dress."

Lorena closed the door.

"Floyd Jordan, what are you coming here again for?" she burst out suddenly.

"Wouldn't be very neighborly not to drop in with your mother sick and your dad away, would it?"

"Didn't I tell you that I never would speak to you again and that I never wanted to see you?" she said fiercely, taking a few steps toward him. Even in that critical moment, with her eyes blazing unjust and unreasonable anger, the miner's heart throbbled acknowledgment of the tall, pliant, reedlike grace before him.

"Yes, Lorena, but I have just a little hope that you don't always mean what you say."

"Don't you think I mean it when I tell you I've heard how you bragged to the boys at the store that you could take me whenever you got good and ready?"

"I never said it in that way. Some one has garbled my words to suit their own purpose. Why, I've loved you from the first time I ever set eyes on you. I've been thinking of building a cabin on my claim—if you'll have me, Lorena. If you won't I'll sell out and go to the States."

"You can't go any too quick to suit me," answered the girl, her voice tense with scorn. "And you can't tell them loafers at the store that I'm not to be taken so easily. I'd rather die than marry you, Floyd Jordan."

"I reckon that settles it," said Jordan, rising and buttoning his coat. "Please tell your mother goodbye for me," and he was gone.

"Lorena Farrell, what have you been and done?" demanded her mother, limping into the room in her stocking feet. "You know's well as I do that Floyd never said nothing to nobody about you! The Blake girls made it all up! Jealous 'cause you'd caught the likeliest young feller in the camp. You've driven him away for good this time. 'He'll keep his word—he always does—and go to the States.'"

She re-entered the bedroom for her shoes, and Lorena stealthily opened the door and looked after her lover's retreating figure. He had almost reached the bluff. If he passed it she knew she would never see him again. Something stirred in her throat. The long stretch of trail that ran away through the dreary landscape seemed like her life, and Floyd was going out of it. Her heart yearned for him. What would her life be without him?

"Lorena, where are you?" called Mrs. Farrell, emerging from the bedroom fully shod. The girl was not in the room. Her mother opened the door and looked out, but a wall of whirling white met her vision.

"My God!" she gasped. "The child's gone after him!"

She knew the risk. All morning the storm had been brewing, and now it thundered by, a veritable blizzard, the sort that swoops down on the northwest territory as late as June and as early as August. It compels the settler to string a wire from house to stable; it sets men circling in the snow; it catches little children coming home from school and buries them in monstrous drifts.

A knock sounded on the door, and Floyd entered, noisily stamping the snow from his feet.

"Thought I'd come back and have another talk with Lorena," he began. "Oh, Floyd, she's gone after you!" cried the distracted woman, wringing her hands. "I saw her footprints pointing toward the bluff. She got sorry right after you left."

"I'll find her," said Floyd quickly. "Don't worry." And he dashed back into the storm.

When Lorena softly closed the kitchen door she could just see Floyd rounding the bluff.

"Floyd! Oh, Floyd, come back!" she called, all her reserve gone, her fierce pride thrown to the stormy winds that blew the fringe of her shawl into her eyes.

Realizing that he could not hear her, she started after him, but by the time she had covered half the distance a sea of white swept in between and blotted him from view.

She hurried on, calling his name repeatedly, but the furious wind tore at her breath and walled her about with fleecy clouds. She never even made the bluff.

And when she found that she had missed it and tried to retrace her steps the drift had filled her tracks. If she could only strike the trail! In desperation she turned to the right and turned to the left, but one turn offset the other.

Thus she struggled on and on and still on until in spite of the biting cold the perspiration burst from every pore. This was well enough as long as she kept moving, but when the time came that she must stop she would freeze all the quicker for her present weariness.

This, being born and bred of the northland, Lorena knew, and the knowledge kept her toiling, toiling on until her tired limbs compelled a pause in the shelter of a rock, all unconscious of a pair of eyes which glared from the wall of the cave near by.

While she rested the green lights in the eyes flared brighter, a long red tongue licked the grinning jaws hungrily, and forth from his covert stole a lank, gray wolf.

Lorena uttered a frightened cry. This was no coyote, to be chased with a stick, but a wolf of timber stock, a great beast, strong as a mastiff. He emitted low snarls as he slunk in half circles across her front. He was undecided.

So while he circled, preparing for a spring, drawing a little nearer at every turn, Lorena fell back—back toward the bluff, keeping her white face away from the creeping beast.

With sudden inspiration she took off her heavy shawl and threw it, blanket-wise, over the wolf's head and then fled desperately. Once clear of the shrub she ran on, plunging through drifts, stumbling, falling, to rise again and push her flight.

Of direction she took no heed. Her only thought was to place distance between herself and the famished brute. But when, weary and breathless, she paused to rest, out of the drab drift stole the lank, gray shadow.

With a terrified shriek Lorena ran and ran and ran as the tired doe runs from the hounds. At last she stopped, spent, unable to take another step. Looking around, she saw the wolf, licking his hungry jaws, crouching for the final spring. With a bitter cry she fell upon her knees and closed her eyes.

Just then two shots rang out in quick succession. Looking up, she saw Floyd Jordan, with his smoking revolver in his hand, standing over the prostrate beast.

"Floyd, oh, Floyd!" she sobbed as he came to her with eyes tender and anxious. He picked her up from the snow, wrapped her in his coat and held her against his breast.

The storm was lifting. Farrell's cabin could be plainly discerned not a quarter of a mile distant.

"I'm dead sure now I'll build that cabin on my claim," Floyd said as they started homeward.

Decline of Billingsgate.

Billingsgate, whose decline in rhetoric has already been noted, has declined also in other ways since Queen Elizabeth appointed it "an open place for the landing and bringing in of any fish, corn, salt stores, victuals and fruit (grocery wares excepted)."

Stow gives the list more fully, as including "fish, both fresh and salt, shell fishes, salt, oranges, onions and other fruits and roots, wheat and rye, and grain of divers sorts for the service of the city and the realm adjoining"—which suggests the contents of a village general shop. In William III.'s reign Billingsgate was limited to a "free and open market for all sorts of fish," and it was after this that its reputation for language grew up, alluded to by Pope:

There stript, fair Rhetoric languished on the ground; His blunted arms by sophistry are borne, And shameless Billingsgate her robes adorn.

—London Chronicle.

Buried Treasures In England.

There must be a good deal of treasure in the form of church plate and so forth concealed in different parts of the country, as quantities of it were buried at the time of the dissolution of the monasteries. There are two legends in Worcestershire regarding some silver bells, for instance, which have been handed down most persistently from one generation to another since the sixteenth century. One version of the story is that the bells were buried by the last abbot of Evesham, Abbot Lichfield, in a subterranean passage which formerly existed between the abbey and a house on the opposite bank of the river, while the other story has it that a peal of silver bells was buried at the same period (the dissolution of the monasteries) at Abbot Morton, a village ten miles distant from Evesham.—Wide World Magazine.

Some Womanly Follies.

The Lonely Woman Is Often So on Account of Her Own Selfishness—The Art of Wooing Misfortune Not Difficult.

"Every now and then some poor woman writes to me saying she is lonely," observed the editor of the woman's page as she laid down a pile of letters. "I wish I could help such people, but how can I when they live miles off?"

"Oh, yes you can," declared her friend, the society woman. "Write and tell them how to get over it."

"How to get over it?"

"Yes, by being less selfish. My dear, I give you my word that the secret of almost all kinds of loneliness, unpopularity and all that sort of thing. No woman need ever be lonely if she takes interest in life and in her fellow beings. But if she shuts herself up and thinks of nothing but her own woes, why, she is bound to be left to her own devices. Who would go near such an uninteresting, mournful specimen? Not I, I assure you, and no one I know would take the trouble either."

"Most of the lonely people in this world have 'troubles,' and if you do take them out and give them a good time they entertain you with an account of their miseries. Sweet, isn't it? Why, I have even been cornered at a dance and forced to listen to a tale of woe from one of these bores while the gayest waltz of the season was being played. You can be quite sure she never received any invitations from me after that."

"But wasn't it rather selfish of you? Poor thing, perhaps she was really suffering."

"Well, why didn't she cork up her feelings until she reached home? Is a social occasion the time and place to unload one's private mishaps? People are there to be amused, and they resent bitterly any conversation that verges on the serious or mournful. Their attitude is only just. Dear knows, we all have our troubles. Most of us are brave enough to keep them to ourselves. We feel it is a duty we owe society, and so I have no sympathy with the selfish woman who loses her grip on herself and unloads.

"The woman who has troubles would rather talk about them than eat. She is perpetually asking you for advice (not that she ever takes it), and she leaves you with the blues for hours afterward. She deserves to be lonely. She ought to be left alone until she comes to her senses."

"As for the rest of the women who are lonely and who don't live in the midst of a howling desert, what is the matter? Another case of being self-centered. They expect the world to come to them instead of going to meet it. We can't all be invited to smart functions, but we can, if we bestir ourselves, find congenial surroundings and a few congenial people. It's merely a question of taking the trouble and broadening one's interests."

"Hum-m! There may be something in what you say," the editor of the woman's page murmured.

Looking For Trouble.

"I am not superstitious," declared the up to date mother, "but I do believe in calling down misfortune. 'Why is my own child so healthy, and why is my next door neighbor's so sickly?' They both started out the same, but if there ever was a woman who had long distance connections with bad luck she is the one. She is always looking for sickness or trouble."

"The other day both children caught cold. I did absolutely nothing for Mildred. I just let her run around and work it off. But you should have seen Mrs. Smith fuss over Ethel. She was sure it was going to settle on her lungs—a cold in summer was so serious. She cursed and fretted until actually she got Ethel into bed with hot water bottle and a temperature. It's the way she acted that did it, I know. Then she said the children's ankles were weak—they should wear braces. I laughed at her. She put them on her child. Today Ethel can't walk properly without them. Mildred is—well, you can see her running out there. Nothing very weak about her ankles, is there? And the other child would have been that way, too, if her mother had let her alone. Talk about calling down bad luck! That woman is a good old fashioned illustration."

NO MORE OLD WOMEN.

Elderly Women May Still Be Found, but Not In Abundance.

Nowadays there are no old women. To the younger generation they are already a matter of tradition. Those of us who have lived longer preserve a more or less distinct recollection of them, but we do not regret they have passed. We are content to relegate the once typical old woman to the story books and to accept in her place the spirited and altogether charming creature whose maturity lends an additional attractiveness to her presence.

Nowadays also it is regarded as a crime to look one's age—that is, if one has lived a quarter of a century or longer. Probably that is one of the chief reasons why old women are seen no more. Of one thing we are certain—this great and good country of ours has not adopted the custom which prevails among barbaric races of killing off their aged and infirm.

If you do not believe that the picturesque, white haired old woman, the kindly soul who was ready to be grandmother to the entire human race, is no longer with us, go to a fashionable shop and ask to be shown some garments for old ladies. The polite saleswoman will be too amazed not to stare vacantly at you and shake her head. When she recovers herself a bit she will proceed to show you some articles of wear that do not at all meet your ideas as to what an old woman should wear. First of all, they will be fashioned in the latest mode, and that will make them quite impossible for the dear old creature whom you have pictured in your mind. Worse than that, they will show such a prodigality of color that you will see at once that they were never intended for the gentle ancient who never should be clad in anything more vivid than soft gray and lavender.

Her Own Private Affair.

In her place we now have a woman who, although her years may be reckoned almost at the Scriptural limit, never mentions the fact in public. Why should she? It is a matter that concerns her especially, and it is not well to encourage impertinent curiosity. Whose affair is it but her own that she contributes largely to the bank account of the beauty doctor and possibly the massage artist? Why should she be subject to criticism because she buys only the most fashionable hats—yes, and wears them? What is there so distressing in the fact that any one of her daughters and some of her granddaughters could wear easily one of her chapeaux without adding to their apparent ages?

She knows how to select young looking hats. Now, really, it must be admitted that the woman who has solved the problem of selecting a hat which will detract from her age has accomplished something worth while. If she has made up her mind that she will conceal the incipient crow's feet that threaten to show in the angles of her face she doesn't wear a small hat that turns up jauntily in front. She has learned—her years have taught her—that, although these hats are chic, it is only the young woman who may wear them with impunity. So she chooses a hat with a shading brim, which is a wise move, for it softens the outlines and gives a rounded, almost youthful effect. Try it if you are skeptical. Try wearing a hat with a broad, flat brim brought to a becoming slant over the face and see how many years you lose by the operation.

Bringing Out Youthful Suits.

Another evidence of the sagacity that comes with many years may be found in the fact that the wise old woman does not fail to select the colors for her costume from among those which she has discovered will bring out the youthful tints still lingering in her face. Unless she be very dark she will be satisfied with pastel shades. If she happens to be dark, let her not despair. When the hair is white she may rest assured that she is still capable of becoming a veritable picture if she wishes and knows how it may be done.

Most Important of All.

And, last, the figure—ah, that is most important of all! Unless the figure is youthful all is lost. But the young old woman of today does not neglect her figure. She is far too clever for that. She exercises continually and doesn't allow herself to become stout. If she finds that advancing years are bringing flesh, she diets, even takes an obesity cure—anything at all to save her from that awful fate.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Pan Handle freight officials met in Pittsburgh to discuss the filing of tariffs in all freight stations along the lines in compliance with the interstate commerce commission's ruling, which provides the change be made in tentative form by October and is obligatory by January next. It is estimated the filing cabinets alone will cost the line nearly $20,000, as over 500 stations must be covered and the cost of the cabinets are from $28 to $150 each.

Motor cars will be placed on lines of the Pennsylvania, leading from Pittsburgh to the suburbs and on some of the branch lines, according to the statements of some of the officials. It is promised that the new motors will be in operation within ten weeks. The Pennsylvania intends to install the same style motor cars as those being used by the Union Pacific. It is thought by the most conservative railroad men that it will be but the question of a few years until all railroads that have strong competition with electric lines, will put on motor cars.

The demand for steel rails remains extremely light and manufacturers are somewhat surprised, as it was expected that by the middle of the summer the demand would be very heavy. Neither steam nor electric roads are in a position to do any considerable buying. Some officials are positive that until the rates of freight are advanced, and better earnings are shown, there will be no general resumption in the buying of new supplies.

While the special agents of the Interstate Commerce Commission are in Chicago and other cities collecting evidence on which to base proceedings against the Harriman anti-trust law, recent developments in the Pacific coast lumber rate situation indicate that railroads are planning a concentrated attack against decisions of the commerce commission. The fight will involve millions of dollars in rates, it is said, and may go so far as to all into question the constitutionality of the Interstate Commerce act itself.

It is also rumored that the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie will be electrified in order that it may meet more successfully the competition of the parallel steam and electric roads. The electrification is not to be confined to the sections in direct competition with the electric but will extend over the entire route.

The Pennsylvania has adopted new plans to reduce the cost of freight car repairs and reduce the usefulness of each car. The company is impressing upon brakemen, repairmen and inspectors the fundamental principle of coupling cars in yard. In regard to the care of trains, and the making of minor repairs, a general notice has been issued to employees which goes into detail. It is expected that the results from the campaign of education will result in cutting down the number of mishaps necessitating repairs of freight trains and passenger equipment.

If the railroads wish to make money let them cut down the salaries of the big officers, instead of saddling greater freight rates on the people who have no chance to recoup. The Pennsylvania road has seven or eight vice presidents, at $10,000 each. Why not do with one at $5,000.

Machinists Laid Off.

The B. & O. management at Benwood has laid off nearly all the machinists and high priced men at the shops, and financial conditions are worse than in the great panic of '73. The soup house is still standing pat, with the patronage not decreasing in the least, though the Republican papers that were always strong on Democratic soup houses have not learned of the fact. —Pittsburgh Democrat.

WILL WONDERS NEVER CEASE

IT IS CREATING A GREAT SENSATION IN MANY LOCALITIES.

Many people are now going to the City Drug Store to see the Root Juice people and learn all they can of the new remedy that is creating so much talk and newspaper comment. Scores of people throughout the state have been cured by the remedy within the past few months, and testimonials continue to be received from every direction in rapid succession. Here in Newark and vicinity numbers of people are taking the remedy and many of them are praising it very highly, although they have been using it but a short while. While the demonstrations were being conducted at Greensburg, Ind., J. W. Boyle, of 116 East Washington street, said: "My wife has been using Root Juice and it is doing wonders for her. Before taking the remedy she had a very bad stomach. The lightest food would sour on her stomach and cause it to burn and pain her very much; in fact, she said she felt like it was raw from top to bottom. Recently her trouble was aggravated by an attack of the la grippe. Her appetite was very poor, but after taking the juice a few days her appetite returned and she now digests everything she eats without the least pain or inconvenience. She is no longer weak and nervous, but seems like a new woman. The remedy has proved a wonderful blessing to her."

In fact, so many people are talking about the new remedy and telling of so much wonderful good it is doing that people are going to the City Drug Store in crowds to see the instructors and get some of the wonderful medicine.

Tell Us a Child That Lacks It

We want to know the children who are not getting Mapl-Flake. We will buy a package for them. Let them tell you how they like it and you'll buy it for them next.

We cook our wheat in pure Vermont maple syrup, to make this perfect food enticing.

To make children like it better than fad foods—better than foods not half so good for them. Once let them taste Mapl-Flake and they will never again be content with inferior cereal foods.

Whole wheat is the ideal food for hot weather. It is the food of the ages. Nothing can take its place.

It gives the maximum nourishment while producing the minimum heat. In summer, wheat should largely take the place of meat.

But wheat must be prepared rightly, else much of it fails to digest. The particles must be separated, by cooking and heat, so the digestive juices can get to them.

So we steam-cook our wheat for six hours. Then we cure it for days—a partial digestive process.

Then each separate berry is flaked so thin that the full heat of our ovens attack every atom. Then those thin flakes are toasted 30 minutes in a heat of 400 degrees.

Flaked foods can be made in one-fourth of this time. The making cost is less, but the cost to you is more.

For a half-cooked food only half digests. The other half goes to waste. It ferments and disturbs digestion.

Mapl-Flake is the one food that's all food—the one food that all digests. To make it so we spend 96 hours in the process.

A whole wheat made wholly digestible—made enticingly delicious. The first package will make you a convert forever.

One Package Free

We want you to know Mapl-Flake—know it from the food itself. So we offer to buy the first package ourselves, rather than have you wait.

These are Mapl-Flake days—the time for wheat and fruit. Don't longer go without it.

Please send us this coupon—now, before you forget it. We will then send you an order, good at your grocer's, for a full-size package free.

See what it adds to a breakfast.

WORKMEN CARRY OFF FOREMAN'S OFFICE BODILY

Canal Foreman Brown Fails to Locate Building Upon Return from Buckeye Lake.

When Canal Foreman Samuel Brown arrived in the city from Buckeye Lake today, he was one of the most surprised individuals one could wish to find in a day's travel. He walked down Fourth street to the canal, intending to go to his office, but he failed to locate the building at first.

For a time he thought he had made a mistake and had gotten on the wrong street, for the shanty which he occupies as an office did not rest on the site where it has been for years.

Monday morning, Contractor Brennan learned that Mr. Brown had gone to Buckeye Lake on business, and he immediately prepared for the removal of the shanty. He nailed four long timbers to the four sides of the little structure and got sixteen men at the corners and lifted the whole business from its foundation and carried it 15 feet to the eastward where it was placed on the canal property.

Teams immediately commenced to work on the ground which had been occupied by the office building, and in a few hours it was graded with the rest of the street.

It is hardly probable that the state will take any action in the matter inasmuch as it has not kicked very hard about the action in filling in the canal.

It is hardly probable that the state will take any action in the matter inasmuch as it has not kicked very hard about the action in filling in the canal.

M. Shamp, lot 89, Evans' Addition, owned by Walter S. Daly, lot 299, Smith's Addition, owned by Lenora Hedrick; and the following sidewalks shall be repaired by laying cement walks thereon: In town acres, range 12, and in the 4th quarter of the second township, and being the lot owned by O. E. Meyer, the Foster Brewing Company and Margaret Haugh, and the following lots on Xine Street: Pt. lot 84, Evans' Addition, owned by Fred Lacey, pt. lots 88 and 89, Evans' Addition, owned by Mary E. ### WHEN, OH WHEN WILL THE WATER PLANT BE COMPLETED?

A rumor was given extensive circulation last week that the municipal water works plant would be ready to have the final test made the fore part of this week, when the contractors would turn over the plant to the city. But inquiry at the office of the Board of Public Safety today failed to confirm the report.

Mr. Taylor, the president of the board, stated that he had no information that gave him assurance as to when the contractors would be ready to have the test made. In his opinion conditions at the pumping station looked just as doubtful and uncertain as they did a month ago.

As a matter of course the continued delay at the pumping station causes the members of the Service Board much concern, for almost daily people make inquiry as to when the city's water works plant will be completed. The only answer that can be given is that "nobody knows."

The many disappointments over the unexplainable delay has also caused people to have misgivings as to how the plant will be tested and how the city's interests will be guarded and protected when the test is made.

Mr. Taylor feels confident as to this matter, however, for the Service Board has chosen Professor Hitchcock, of the Ohio State university, a well known expert on this subject, to be the city's representative when the inspection and final test of the plant and machinery are made.
